

The Worlds Most Dangerous 80s Band

BIO

A Nightmare on 80s Street is a San Diego-based ‘80s tribute band that takes the decade’s biggest New Wave, rock, pop, and dance hits and gives them a darker, heavier, horror-movie-inspired makeover. What makes the band stand out is that the entire show is built around iconic horror characters.
The current presentation features Freddy Krueger on vocals, Hannibal Lecter on drums, Jason Voorhees on bass, Michael Myers on guitar, and Pinhead on keyboards, combining live musicianship with costumes, theatrical antics, video, lighting, smoke and other production elements.

The concept was created in 2016 by Jason Smith, who wanted something beyond the typical ‘80s cover band a fully immersive live experience inspired by the music and horror culture of the 1980s. Despite the horror theme, A Nightmare on 80s Street is a family friendly entertainment experience that plays shows all year-round.

The band has performed throughout Southern California, Arizona and Nevada, with a focus on live music venues, concert venues, casinos, festivals, comic conventions, horror cons, private parties and corporate events.
With their busiest year to date and their massive online presence, it’s no wonder A Nightmare on 80s Street is quickly becoming one of the most requested 80s bands in the country.

Freddy As the creator and voice of Nightmare, Freddy comes with 25 years of live rock band experience, a knack for vocal mimicry, questionable dance moves, and a penchant for entertaining crowds from Las Vegas to Hollywood. When he's not busy on stage you might find him in your dreams, butchering people, songs, or just relaxing in the boiler room.

Jason Bass Player • Camp Counselor • Axe Enthusiast
Jason Voorhees has been terrifying Crystal Lake for decades. When he's not stalking unsuspecting teenagers, he's been quietly moonlighting as "Jase of Bass," a bass player with 30+ years of experience across rock, alternative, blues, jazz, funk, electronic, acoustic and tribute projects. He knows how to kill a groove.

Michael Michael has an extensive guitar career deeply rooted in metal and 80's Shred. Prior to Nightmare he was in a touring metal band that played with numerous well-known bands including Megadeth & Motlet Cru to name a few , He has Performed everywhere from arenas, stadiums, small clubs and legendary venues, Michael was also the lead guitarist for the Shamu Rocks show at Seaworld San Diego for over 5 years and has done countless professional televised national media appearances performing for millions of people.

Pinhead More keys please! Straight from hell is Pinhead, nailing down 88+ keys to raise hell.
He can raise any symphonic symphony from the '80s that haunt you in your nightmares.
Being immortal, Pinhead has decades upon decades of experience as a professional recording artist and performer in the genre.

Hannibal aka Slynkee. A seasoned drummer with decades of experience, Slynkee has taken the stage in over 60 countries. He has performed with multiple well-known cover bands, his original bands and has been the drummer for Dave Navarro. Slynkee joined Nightmare in 2026 bringing together 3 of his greatest passions: '80s music, fava beans and horror. With his larger-than-life stage persona, dark sense of humor, and love for all things terrifying, he's a natural fit for the world's most dangerous 80s band.
